- Today the cement and ceramics industries in Bulgaria are still represented by the old factories which existed previously and which, for the most part, retained their old firm names, such as "Granitoid" of Sofia, and "Lev" of Pleven. Several of the cement plants were enlarged and reequipped so that they could take care of the new building needs and the repairs of damages suffered during World War II.
- The known industries consist of the factories listed in the chart below and shown in the Appendix on pages 3 and 4.
